Note: the phrase “critical review” does not mean you have to criticize the book (although you certainly can); it means that you go beyond a summary of the book, in order to evaluate it.

Books indicated with an asterisk (*) should not be chosen because they have been done in the last couple of years, and in many cases are currently posted on Amazon. If you want, you can consult the reviews previously posted to Amazon, as examples of critical reviews that have been done in the past.

Aghion, Philippe, and Rachel Griffith. *Competition and Growth: Reconciling Theory and

Gilder, George. The Silicon Eye: Microchip Swashbucklers and the Future of High-Tech Innovation. New York: W. W. Norton, 2006. [includes an extended example that he believes will be a Christensen disruptive innovation]

